Where HR Meets Cybersecurity

My heart dropped when I received this notification from my bank account, 'Unauthorized login attempt from a new device. If this was not you, secure your account by clicking on the link below.' I almost clicked the link, before realizing it's a fraudulent message.

Your Cyberspace Survival Kit

Cybersecurity remains a hot topic for employers. Here are 3 things you can do to keep your organization safe from cyberattacks. Refer to our blog to know more about how to protect yourself against cyberthreats.

- Have an AI policy in place that defines acceptable employee use and outlines any activities or platforms that are not permitted.
- Upon an employee's separation from the organization, ensure all associated accounts are deactivated and their access permissions are fully removed.
- Use the cybersecurity features of the services you are already paying for (e.g. Microsoft365) - most of them have built-in protection that need to be switched on.
